National Religious Campaign Against Torture (NRCAT).

Hundreds of congregations across the country will show the film during October.

"Ghosts of Abu Ghraib," an 80-minute HBO film, features the familiar and disturbing photos of torture at Iraq's Abu Ghraib prison. Acclaimed filmmaker Rory Kennedy digs beneath the headlines to investigate the psychological and political context in which torture occurred and to ask critical questions about how it happened and how it affects America's credibility as a defender of freedom and human rights.

This film is for mature audiences only.

The film includes photographs from Abu Ghraib prison. These images – many of them containing male nudity – and some of the interviews are extremely intense. We have agreed to participate in the Spotlight on Torture project because we share NRCAT's belief that "Ghosts of Abu Ghraib" will help people of faith deepen our understanding of the nature of U.S.-sponsored torture and also strengthen our resolve to end it.
